CLOUD SERVICES

Bringing Cognitive Intelligence to the Cloud

Organizations across industries look to accelerate their cloud journey. With greater awareness of the advantages that cloud computing can provide in terms of innovation and efficiency, enterprises are transferring more IT operations to the cloud.

With multiple and siloed lines of business, organizations look for a centralized approach to address the aspects of cloud expertise, reusability, standardization, optimization and data security control in their journey of transformational change. Additionally, they look for support in safeguarding their ROI against a dynamically evolving landscape.

Enterprises need an expert and adept partner to help them manage their cloud strategy and execution for outcome-driven success.

Mphasis Cloud Services offer end-to-end and holistic consulting, transformation and operations services for hybrid clouds. Purpose-built for speed and change, our cognitive cloud management at enterprise scale leverages the strength and versatility of AWS' computing power, database storage and content delivery.
